manner, informing them of their duty, and charging them of the importance of care fully and impartially performing that duty.

The first case tried on Monday was that of the State vs. Isaac Purdervis, indicted for burglary, in breaking a entering the house of Mr. H. O. Herric. . The Judge appointed E. B. Murray, Esq., to defend he prisoner, and after the State's testimony was closed the defence rested solely upon the failure of the State to prove that the prisoner was the party from whom Mr. Herrick recovered a portion of the stolen goods. After argument, the Jury returned verdict of "Not Guilty."

The case of the term, however, has been that of the State vs. Wm. P. Cook, indictment for murder. The accused was represented by Messrs, McGowan, Moore and Allen, who made a very able and ingenious defense, showing first that Mr. Cook only shot to frighten the woman, Katie Burriss, and that he shot in such position as not to strike any person, and, next, that the wound supposed to be a pistol shot on the shoulder of Chloe Burriss, who died, came rom a puncture with the spindle of a spin ning wheel, and that her death was not oc assioned by a gunshot or pistol wound The character of the State's principal wit ness for veracity was completely demolished. Messrs. Allen, Moore and McGowan each made eloquent and exhaustive arguments for the defense, and Solicitor Cothran followed in a clear and exhaustive speech for the prosecution. The charge of the Judge was impartial and perfectly fair, after which the jury retired to their room returning in a short time with a verdict of 'not guilty." The case was entered upon Tuesday morning and concluded at about
